WE NOMINATE

Donald Worner Griffin, this community's best-known "contact" with all parts of these United States and perennial director of Princeton Town's observances of such events as Memorial and Armed Forces Days, who is entering upon his second quarter-century as Secretary of the University's Alumni Council, the governing body of the 31,000-member National Alumni Association. The 58-year old Griffin, a native of Lock Haven, Pa., has now visited nearly 100 of the University's 110-plus alumni associations and his mission, invariably, is to strengthen the bonds between alumni and what he calls "Nassau Hall."

Out of New York City this weekend, in connection with Griffin's silver anniversary in the service of the University's Orange and Black, came one of the delightful husband-and-wife stories of the year. Surprise guests of honor at a Princeton Class of 1923 dinner, Griffin and his wife, the former Helen Quigley, long-working Trustee of Princeton Hospital, were suddenly called forward for an anniversary presentation. The orator of the evening droned on: "We are happy to present this buggy, and have made it as automatic as possible." From Mrs. Griffin, so the story goes, came an audible gasp: "Oh, no, not another buggy!"

Mrs. Griffin, fully aware of her husband's enthusiasm for horses and his concern for collecting memorabilia of the horse-and-buggy era, including a 75-year old victoria, had assumed that her husband's Princeton classmates were thoughtfully adding to an ever-growing array of buggies, sleighs and carriages. The group promptly adjourned to an adjacent parking lot to inspect a fully equipped 1960 station wagon, the gift to the Griffins. Several hours later the guests of honor "station-waggoned" back to their Washington Road home, leaving in Manhattan a venerable sedan in which the speedometer read 103,000 miles and for which Griffin had that afternoon purchased a new jack.

Recently retired from the United States Army and Air Force Reserves, with over three decades of commissioned service behind him, Griffin established his home here in 1935—some 13 years after he had won football honors as a member of the still-celebrated Princeton "Team of Destiny." He succeeded Thurston J. Davies, subsequently president of Colorado College, and as the lone salaried officer of the Princeton Alumni Association proceeded to develop an organization which has become one of the University's sources of enduring strength. To him, according to one observer, belongs a generous measure of credit for the success of Princeton's Annual Giving Campaign, that this year may well yield $1,400,000 in unrestricted funds.

Griffin, originally a "transfer student" to Princeton from the University of Pennsylvania, where he had captained an outstanding freshman football team, has combined his manifold University duties with devotion to military affairs. At one time during World War II administratively responsible for all of the Air Force's sick and wounded in U.S. hospitals, he has been in recent years Civilian Aide for New Jersey to succeeding Secretaries of the Army as well as Chief of the Educational Guidance Staff for reserve training in the State.

For exemplary service to Princeton-trained products in all parts of the world; for his contagious enthusiasm for all things bearing upon the well-being of Princeton Town and Gown; for understanding that one's life-work is "the sum of many things well done;" he is Town Topics' nominee for

COMMUNITY AUDIT

"All Phases of Life." Between 9 and 11 percent of Princeton's residents are Negroes, and the role of this minority in the life of the community was examined this week in the first of a series of "Community Audits" conducted by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

"We found Negroes active in all phases of community life, although the actual number is small," said the report presented to a gathering at the First Presbyterian Church. This initial survey explored the Negro's role in churches, organizations which seek public funds, those which use tax-free property and those under the state anti-discrimination laws.

Two questions were asked: "What proportion of your clientele is Negro?" and "What proportion of your employees is Negro and in what grades?" (In the discussion that followed, a third question, "Have you EVER served a Negro?" was suggested for establishments that give vague answers about clientele.)

The report found that six of the town's churches are what might be called "homogeneous." First Baptist and Mount Pisgah are all Negro; Assembly of God, Methodist, Second Presbyterian and Calvary Baptist are all white, although Methodist reported a two percent non-white, non-Negro population.

At Trinity Episcopal, there are ten Negro families; at St. Paul's Roman Catholic, there are nine. Unitarian, First Presbyterian and Messiah Lutheran report one percent. Westerly Road reports Negro attenders, but no members; Christian Science has two members but follows a policy of not counting heads; Witherspoon Presbyterian has 87 percent Negro, 12 percent white. Most of the churches reporting small Negro memberships issued statements of welcome and goodwill.

Not Much Change. "I don't have much chance to treat Negro patients," was the comment of a Princeton doctor. Of the 66 physicians and dentists polled, 22 answered the questionnaire and the results show anywhere from a 50 percent Negro practice (one doctor had that many) to a low of 1 to 3 percent. "I've never given much thought to this percentage business," one doctor said, while a dentist commented sharply. "A patient's race has no effect on a patient's teeth."

Princeton Hospital does not identify its patients by race on their records. (The hospital integrated voluntarily in 1949, two years before state law required integration.) There are no Negro staff doctors, but Hospital officials told the WILE that they would probably accept any qualified applicant. There are no Negroes on the Board of Trustees, in the new School of Practical Nursing, about half the students are white, half Negro.

Agencies which belong to the United Community Fund have deliberately tried to integrate their Boards of Trustees, according to the audit. Results of the questionnaire showed that according to their numbers in the community (11 percent maximum), Negroes were well represented.

There are Negro den mothers for Cub Scouts in integrated Dens, there are Negro helpers for Boy Scout leaders. One Scout troop has no white boys, one has no Negro boys, but most of the rest have a mixture.

"We found it significant," said the report, "that many Troop leaders were unsure just how many Negro boys they did have."

The Red Cross has Negro Grey Ladies and nurses' aides at the Mercer County Child Guidance Center has a Negro case worker and the YWCA - YNCA has a high proportion of young Negro members (fewer adults, however).

"The 'Y' people are particularly anxious to make Negroes realize that they are as welcome on Avalon Place as they were on Witherspoon Street," the audit stated.

Stores Not Served. The survey did not cover stores, eating places, garages, theaters or the library, on the assumption that —Continued on Page 2

RARE ORIENTAL RUGS

For the first time in Princeton, an unusual collection of rare Oriental rugs and Flemish tapestries will be shown. Three dozen truly fine Orientals are a rare display as most comparable rugs are held by collectors. The small rugs are used mainly as decorative wall hangings, suited to modern or traditional interiors, although some could be floor rugs.

Of special interest to collectors are a silk Kashan, an 18th century Sinnch Kilim, and a 17th century Samarkand with Chimes-like designs. The collection assembled by Sam Bahadurian, is the second in a series of our shows on unusual decorative arts for the home. Display and sale begins today, continues through Saturday, February 6th.

there was no integration problem in these places.

It did, however, canvass Princeton's two hotels, both of which said they kept no records of their Negro customers. "We don't turn anyone away; we're here to make money," the manager of one hotel said. At the Nassau Inn, 60 percent of all employees are Negro and four are supervisors. There is one Negro employed by Princeton Inn.

"The one shocking thing we found," said the report, "and this is at complete variance with the rest of the town, was that barber shops and beauty parlors seem to be hostile."

Eight white barber shops told the audit canvassers that they did not serve Negroes and one beauty parlor said "This is an all-white establishment."

Barber and beauty shops are not included in state anti-discrimination statutes.

The audit did not cover private clubs and organizations, because "this would violate the right of free association." They did, however, interview Princeton's three food companies. There are no Negro members, according to the report.

Comments after the formal report:

● Negro: "I don't particularly want to go to a white church—that's only 22 days a year. The weekdays are what's important."

● White: "Negroes should 'cross the bridge' and join white groups. How do you meet Negroes in Princeton anyway?"

● Negro: "We only want equal rights in things we should have. We don't necessarily want to go to white functions."

The report, noting that Princeton's theatres were not integrated until 1955 and the schools until more than a decade later, concluded with an optimistic prognosis for the future of race relations.

PERSONALITIES

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Cook, Heathcote Farm, Kingston, who last week enjoyed observation of one of the basic goals of married life: their golden anniversary. Residents of this area for the past 33 years, Mr. and Mrs. Cook were married January 20, 1910, in New York City.

Dr. Jeanette Munro, Dr. Alfred D. Summers and Nicholas A. Coria, honored by the medical staff of Princeton Hospital at a special testimonial dinner Wednesday. Dr. Summers, who has been on the medical staff since 1928, will retire from general practice on April 1 but continue his hospital practice at Merwick, the Hospital's geriatric unit. Dr. Munro has been on the Hospital's staff since 1933. She is not retiring; her fellow doctors included her in the testimonial dinner as a tribute to her long years of service. Mr. Coria, Hospital bacteriologist since 1964, will retire "voluntarily." A distinguished bacteriologist with many published works to his credit, he was formerly associated with the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

John N. Mather, 8 College Road, 17-year old Princeton High School senior, who has been named to the "Honors Group" in the 19th nationwide Science Talent Search for Westinghouse Scholarships. One of 448 chosen from nearly 30,000 original participants, young Mather will be eligible for a share in the cash awards on a basis of his project, "Nine Postulates for Euclidean Geometry."

ROUND-UP

Although the temperature dipped below freezing every day last week (falling as far as 17 in the early hours of Sunday), the ice on the lake is definitely unsafe. . . Peter J. McCrohan, winter sports supervisor for Princeton, reports there is only an inch in most places, adding: "This is the worst year for outdoor skating since 1966, with not a single day of good ice this winter". . . when the freeze is sufficiently deep, the international skating flag (white with a red ball in the center) will be flown at the corner of Nassau and Witherspoon Streets.

Friday (last business day in January) is the deadline for renewing dog licenses at Borough or Township Hall. . . owners of pets inoculated for rabies other than at the clinic last year must provide proof of such action.

Nine years ago, John W. Minor was a senior at Princeton. . . last week, four years after he was appointed to the University faculty, he was advanced in the rank of full professor in mathematics and at age 28 may be the youngest in the nation to hold that rank. . . he won a graduate fellowship at Harvard while in his freshman year at Princeton.

The United Community Fund expects to complete its 1969-70 drive with $200,000, short of its $212,000 goal but better than $50,000 more than the greatest amount raised previously. The Gerard Lambert Award for outstanding community service will be presented at the Fund's annual dinner next Wednesday at the YM-YWCA.

Five Princeton area students are among the 926 recipients in New Jersey of the first awards made by the State Scholarship Committee. . . they are Frederick B. Larson, Peter A. Holmes and Raymond V. BOTTLES INTO DOLLARS Olympic Fund Aided. As hundreds of Princeton children collected thousands of empty soda bottles during the past week, an experiment tried here as a test for communities throughout the state was officially labelled a major success.

In just seven "working" days, youngsters making collections with the assistance of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association gathered 12,234 bottles. Just over 10,000 of these were classified as "small," those bringing two cents apiece—and the rest—worth a nickel each—were of the "large" variety. Total take, with hundreds more still being rounded up daily: $311.67.

Irwin Weiss, State Chairman of the AAU Olympic Fund Drive, has announced that the collection project will be extended a week. "The youngsters are still collecting empties all over town," he said, "and we certainly don't want to discourage them by ending the campaign too quickly." Bottles may be brought each afternoon until 5 to the Pink Elephant, 252 Nassau Street.

Mr. Weiss expressed his deep appreciation to the PBA for its assistance, adding that police youth groups in many other New Jersey towns and cities will be invited to cooperate in similar fashion. Meantime, it is probable that the success of the initial undertaking here will raise in excess of five percent of the entire quota for the state, which has been set at $500.

Certificates Won. No less than seven boys earned U.S. Olympic certificates by collecting bottles worth a total of at least $5. Top man was John Kelsall, 256 Varsity Avenue, Penns Neck, whose $3.91 total would have entailed collection of more than 400 bottles if all were of the two-cent variety.

Others topping the $5 figure were Stanley Donald, Jr., 284 Hamilton Avenue, and Thomas Rose, 300 Hamilton Avenue, each $7.10; John Ballentine, 82 Library Pl., $5.25; Alex. Johnson, 19 Linden Lane, $5.06; Anthony Manousos, 28 Pine Street, $5.03; and Michael Skilman, 52 Harriet Drive, $5.01.

Pins were given to every boy and girl who produced at least a dollar's worth of bottles. Five members of one family, children of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Slango, 10 Hamilton Avenue, qualified for these awards: Mark, 13; Paul, 10; Karl, 9; Martina, 7; and Tom, 3. An additional honor awaits the certificate winners. Mr. Weiss said this week. Plans are under way to have their picture taken with Gov. Robert Meyner at "Morven," his Princeton residence.

Police Seek Aid In Ending "Crime Wave"

A rash of "breaking and entering" has plagued home owners and police of Princeton Township since early November. Chief James B. Campbell, Jr., has asked Township residents to cooperate with police to bring the "crime wave" to an end.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights last week, sneak thieves entered Princeton houses, using the same rough techniques they have for the past two months: prying open locked doors with a crowbar, or entering through windows which they have broken with Ragslows. Housebreakers have taken, since November, over $5,000 worth of articles, including jewelry, fur coats and whiskey.

Since November, they have entered the homes of Norman Schecter, 161 Longview Drive; George Conover, 131 Parkside Drive; J. L. Stern, Lawrenceville Road; Wheaton J. Lane, 85 Winant Road; James S.

Nicholls, Jr., Princeton Pike; N. E. Gilbert, Princeton Pike, and Charles A. Ryskamp, Lawrenceville Road.

Chief Campbell's greatest concern is "what might happen," a man who has broken into a house with a crowbar might use it as a weapon if he is cornered by a house-owner who comes home unexpectedly. With this in mind, he has asked Township residents to cooperate.

(1) Lock doors securely when you go out. Some "breaking" has been through unlocked doors.

(2) If you come home and find your door jimmied or your window broken, call police immediately and quietly, from a neighbor's house if necessary. The prowler may still be in your house.

(3) Call Township police (WA 4-3105) if you hear any suspicious sounds or see anything in your neighborhood at night.

OUTDOOR GRADUATION SET

For Princeton High School. Breaking previous tradition, the senior class at Princeton High School will have its commencement exercises outdoors this year. Plans for an outdoor graduation were approved by the Princeton Borough Board of Education at its meeting this Tuesday.

E. Woodhall Davis, superintendent of schools, explained that the change was being made because there is not sufficient space in any Princeton building for all those entitled to attend commencement exercises. The football field at the high school was suggested as the probable site, although this is not definite as yet. In case of rain, the exercises would be postponed, and should there be a long stretch of bad weather, they would be moved into the gymnasium, with restricted attendance.

Purchase of $3,437.56 worth of equipment and services for the Borough schools under the Federal Aid for Science Program was approved by the board. Under this program, the Federal Government will match the local expenditure dollar for dollar, enabling the Borough schools to acquire almost $4,000 worth of items at half-price.

This will be a one-time expenditure, as the Federal program is designed to be an incentive rather than a permanent aid. Items to be purchased include such things as equipment for a 150-bottle language laboratory, a micro-projector for the science department, and cone sections, slide rules and adjustable triangles for the mathematics department. In addition, the program will pay for half the salary of a guidance director as well as half the salary of a secretary in the guidance department.

Mrs. Alice Tucker was appointed as a substitute mathematics teacher for the remainder of the school year. She will replace Mrs. Doris Van Dyne, who is resigning February 5. Catherine Schannel was named custodian of the high school, effective March 1. He resigned Harry Christman, who is resigning the end of this month. The regular custodial staff will go overtime to handle the position during the interim.

The school calendar for next year was adopted by the board. Classes are scheduled to open Wednesday, September 7, and close Wednesday, June 14.

Princeton Township's Zoning Board has denied an application for an auto laundry. The latest one, proposed for the Princeton Shopping Center, was rejected Monday night at the January meeting of the Board.

The auto laundry would have handled about 1,000 cars a week in a 30 by 125-foot cinder block building at the extreme southern tip of the Center on the Harrison Street perimeter. The shopping Center had authorized the new enterprise.

Topics Of The Town

 Several neighbors in the area appeared before the Board to protest the establishment of the club. James W. Foley, 262 North Harrison Street based his objection on the fact that the zoning ordinance specifically prohibits auto laundries. George Tkacs, 252 North Harrison, questioned the adequacy of sewers to handle the increased flow of water. Robert Harwood, 8 Clearview, said he objected to a city street "fence" almost at his rear property line and Holmes Palma, 258 North Harrison, sustained Mr. Foley's objection based on the zoning law's prohibition. The Board refused the application, filed by David Buchanan of Lawrenceville, builder and contractor, on the grounds that it was against the zoning ordinance. According to the ordinance, there may not be in Princeton Township, airports or heliports, car laundries, dog kennels, quarries, trucking terminals, camps, trailer courts, junk yards or operations which remove topsoil.

PLANS APPROVED

For Tenacre, The Tenacre Foundation received permission this week from the Township Zoning Board to erect 21 units for the aged on its rest-home property on The Great Road. J. Burwell Harrison, director of the Foundation, estimates that actual construction will probably not begin until spring, 1961. The units will be purchased for about $20,000 each by the people who live in them and each unit will revert to Tenacre upon the death of the owner. The first owners to purchase the units will, therefore, finance the original construction. Funds for the construction of the common rooms, offices and so on, will come from the Tenacre Foundation.

SUMMER SESSION PLANNED

At Princeton Country Day, Princeton boys and girls of pre-college age will have the opportunity to enroll in a six-week course at Princeton Country Day School this summer. The curriculum is designed for those entering grades 5-11 in the fall of 1960, although this requirement is no rigid. The program will provide supplementary or new study in the fields of English, Latin, Greek and mathematics. It is not remedial. Emphasis will be on the acquisition of essential skills such as critical writing and reading.

*His story's darkest day—

 The sun is stronger,
 The sun is longer—
 Is Spring about ready To knock?*

—Horz Sw

The first few days of this week had made it look that way, what with temperatures in the sun pushing all the way toward 50. There was a definite lull in Tuesday's and Wednesday's air. But the Man said no, he had to be realistic about these things—and that knock is still some time away. Colder again Thursday, bringing a chill rain; clearing for the weekend—but it won't even be February until Monday.

or Latin translation and composition, and on an exploratory approach to familiar material such as the application of basic principles of arithmetic and algebraic reasoning.

Peter F. Rothermel, Country Day's headmaster, will handle the program's administration, and will teach a course in American history, should interest develop. Three Princeton University graduates will comprise the teaching staff.

Nathaniel E. Smith, an alumnus of Country Day and Taft, will handle the mathematics program. Two sections are planned, one for students with little or no training in algebra, and the other for those with at least one year of algebra.

John D'Arms, who is working towards his PhD in classics at Harvard, will teach beginning Greek as well as Latin. He graduated from Country Day and Exeter, and studied for three years at Oxford.

Neil Rudenstine, who has completed three years of graduate work at Oxford University, as a Rhodes Scholar, will teach critical writing. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he has taught English at the Wooster Summer School in Danbury, Conn. He is a graduate of Wooster.

Each class will meet five times a week for an hour, and students are expected to enroll in two courses. The program, scheduled to begin in mid-June, will cost each student $100 per class. Applications and information may be obtained from the school, WA 4-1031. The program will be put into effect if 15 students enroll, with 32 envisioned as the maximum. March 1 is the deadline for acceptance.

oppose "Perry's Paragons" when Princeton High School students go to the polls next Friday to select officials for Student Administration Day to be held on February 12.

Dave Kilgour and Paul Perry were elected to head the two parties in homeroom elections last week. Each named the members of his party and began work on a platform which was presented to the school. The party head with the most members elected will become Superintendent of School for the day.

The first duty of the new Board will be to select student administrators, including principal and vice-principal. Then it will choose the best elements of each party's platform and present them to the regular Board of Education meeting on February 16.

Named to "Dave's Delegates" are Barbara Bates, Ann Cooper, Linda Day, Janet Jennings, Peter Kann, Fred Miller, Susan Musselman, Joseph Peterson and Harry Steen. "Perry's Paragons" include Kathy Bassett, Mardie Coyle, Florence Harris, Jack Hawkins, Michael Marston, Marty McGuinn, Terry Russo, Leon Venier and Elizabeth Wilson.

SCHOOL PROGRAM SET

For Talented Students. After a year's study, the Township Board of Education has announced that its special program for students with high academic ability will begin Monday, February 8, developed by William D. Purcell, superintendent of Township.

News Of The THEATRES

NOW'S YOUR CHANCE — To Support The Players. Just two weeks ago Mrs. Herbert Mc-Aneny, outgoing president of the Princeton Community Players, wrote a letter to TOWN TOPICS stating that the organization was "in danger of withering for lack of nourishment" and asking,
"Does Princeton want a community theatre badly enough to support one?"

Those interested in giving an affirmative answer to her question can do so by making plans to attend the Players' next production, scheduled to open this Friday evening at the Playmill, 282 Alexander Street. The show, "A Murder Has Been Arranged" by Evelyn Williams, is a mystery thriller guaranteed to give well more than a $2 ticket's worth of chills and suspense.

The play, which follows the precise pattern of structure used by the 19th century French playwrights, is set on the stage of the St. James Theatre in England during the 1930's. Elias Baker and his band, as part of the cast, will play jazz music of the thirties.
Mr. Williams, known to Princeton audiences for his interpretation of the works of Dylan Thomas, gives an unusual twist to his drama by having a murderer who kills in full view of the audience and yet makes none of the errors common to criminals. He is the chief suspect, yet remains immune to the law of the land.

Light in Cast. Constance Lox is directing the cast of eight, which includes Edward Callanan, Jayne Andrews, Lilli Josephson, Christopher Lox, Judy Walton,
William Conger, Evon Koehy,
Phyllis Collins and Richard L. M.
Coleman. Nancy Shannon is assistant to the director.
There will be six performances altogether. This Friday and Sat-

Each will begin at 8:30 p.m.
Tickets, at $2 each, may be ordered by mail from the Playmill

IGLESIAS WILL DANCE.
With Spanish Troupe, Robert Iglesias, who dances at the head of one of the newest Spanish ballet troupes, will bring his company to McCarter Theater Monday at 8:30 p.m. for an evening of traditional Spanish dancing.
The appearance will be sponsored by Celebrity Series.

Iglesias is a Guatemalan-born dancer who toured the United States in the Rosario and Antonio Company. He formed his own group three years ago, and since that time he has been hailed in Spain and South America as the purest of all the Spanish dancers.

The technique of the Spanish dance is unique and its terminology, style and character differ markedly from those of other schools of the dance. Its character lies in the emotional projection by the dancer and the delicate carriage of his head, torso and arms.

Rosario Galan is the chief woman dancer in the company. The guitarist is Felix de Utrera and the violinists are Maria Fabregas and Pepe Segundo.

IT'S EXTENSIVE.
Grenfell's Repertoire. The extensive repertoire of songs and monologues that Joyce Grenfell has accumulated over the years is so flexible and so subject to change, that when she appears in McCarter Theater the audience will not be quite sure just what the program will be. Miss Grenfell will be here on Saturday, February 6, at 8:30 p.m., under the auspices of Celebrity Series.

The monologues Miss Grenfell gives are, of course, her own.
Her comic abilities first came to light in the pages of "Punch" where her humorous verses were published regularly. Soon after she started to publish, she began to appear in public with monologues like "How to Make A Boutonniere Out of Empty Beach Nut Clusters," and so on. She has appeared on both stage and screen.

colo Teatro di Milano, one of Europe's most distinguished theatrical companies, will give a single performance at McCarter Theatre in Princeton on March 10. This appearance, the company's only one in New Jersey, will be presented by Dana Attractions, Inc., through arrangements with impresario Jerry Hoffman and Sadler Wells.

The Italian company will come to Princeton directly from a two-week engagement at the New York City Center, where it will make its American debut on February 23. Its vehicle will be Goldoni's 18th Century classic, "The Servant of Two Masters."

Although only founded in 1947, the Piccolo Teatro di Milano has already produced 82 plays throughout Europe and is regarded as one of the foremost guardians of the Italian theatrical heritage of "commedia dell'arte." Tickets are available by mail from Dana Attractions, Inc., Box 2, Princeton, and will be on sale at the University Store beginning Monday.

Dana Attractions' current offering is "Mary Stuart," starring Eva Le Gallienne and Signe Hasso, which will be shown Friday evening, February 12, and Saturday afternoon and evening, February 13, at McCarter Theatre. Tickets are on sale at the University Store.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Third Man on the Mountain (January 27-30) is a kind of "Journey to the Center of the Earth" in reverse, but without Pat Boone, which is something. It is the latest product of the Walt Disney factory and it attests to its origins in its sleekness, its professionalism and its lack of depth. The stars are Michael Rennie, James MacArthur, Janet Munro, James Donald and Herbert Lom.

The screenplay, written by Eleanor Griffin, was adapted from James Ramsey Ullman's novel, "Banner in the Sky." MacArthur is the young son of a famous Swiss Alps guide who died protecting a client. The lad has a burning desire to climb the Citadel, a formidable peak near the Swiss Village where he lives. Convinced that his father discovered a new route to the top before his death, MacArthur defies his relatives and prepares to make the ascent. During the preparations, he meets Rennie, a noted British mountain-climber who also has his cap set on the Citadel, and Rennie invites MacArthur to join him.

It goes without saying that the film was painstakingly filmed on location in the Alps and the scenery is breathtaking. The principal, all of whom know how to act, perform with the requisite earnestness they warmly super-cial roles they are provided by the script. The mountain, we're afraid, is a symbol.

Cash McCall (January 31-February 2) is an absurd compendium of clichés from old muckraker novels, new Madison Avenue novels and "Maverick," from which its star, James Garner, was recruited. The sketchy, implausible screenplay was adapted by Lenore Coffey and Marion ("See Here, Private Hargrove") Hargrove from Cameron Hawley's lightweight novel. Joseph Pevney directed.

Garner, a likeable, good-looking backstabber, is a young financial manipulator who is just interested in making money (thus) instead of Building Up America's Economy ("hurrah"). He doesn't give a hoot about making goods and contributing to the flow of production; he's a robber-baron in Ivy League clothes who buys and sells companies and has the gall to take a profit for doing it. The point of the picture, as far as we can tell, is made when Natalie Wood, who is deeply in love with Garner for some reason which the scriptwriters do their best to conceal, uses her feminine wiles and gasp-provoking proportions to convince Garner that he should get into some nice business and Make Things instead of trading in other people's used enterprises. It's kind of a combination of "Marjorie Morningstar" and "Executive Suite."

Along the way, there's a lot of frenzied, unprincipled manipulation engaged in by Garner and Dean Jagger, whose beautifully Dickensian name describes all you need to know about his place in the film's moral hierarchy. Nina Foch is present as a sleek witch who tries to grab Garner from Miss Wood's determined clutches. The film is in Technicolor.

The Last Angry Man (February 3-6) is molded from the same sentimental cookie-cutter as was the novel of the same name by Gerald Green, but it is lifted out of the realm of the ordinary by the fine performances of Paul Muni (returning to the screen after a 12-year hiatus) and David Wayne. Others in the cast are Rare Rugs Displayed. A collection of about 36 rare old rugs, some Persian, some Flemish, some Turkestan, will be displayed for two weeks starting this Friday at the Home Furnishings shop on Witherspoon Street, just north of Spring.

The rugs are for sale, at prices ranging from $100 to $1100, but mostly they are for show, and it is the hope of Home Furnishings and its co-owner, Samuel Bahadurian, that Princeton residents with champagne tastes and vin odinaire wallets, will come in to look at these little masterpieces and at least wish that they could buy.

The oldest pieces in the collection date from the 17th century and one of these is a very rare Samarkand rug from Central Asia. It is a small rug, about 2 x 4 feet, with a coarsely woven design in green-gold and deep faded raspberry with a strong Chinese influence. Rugs like this one are no longer made, according to Mr. Bahadurian. It is $120.

Another 17th century piece comes from Flanders. It is a Flemish tapestry — possibly a fragment of an even larger piece — measuring about 4 x 7 feet and showing the partial figure of a man. This is obviously for wall and not for floor.

From the 18th century comes a pair of Persian rugs. One is a Simneh Kilim, made to be used as a wall hanging or decorative spread and woven without nap. It has a reverberant pattern of soft rose touched with grey. The Simneh is thought by many to be the finest of all Kilims and this one is $190.

The other rug is an antique silk Kashan (1700) with a very tight weave and a closely composed design of birds and trees. These rugs were made, not for export or commerce, but for gift or to royalty, or as part of a rich dowry. Usually there is several years of work in a rug of this kind.

A small Boukharas, 4 x 5 feet, is one of the original Boukharas made in the Caucasian mountains of Turkestan and now duplicated by Iranian weavers. This one has a fine traditional design in deep wine red ($400).

Mr. Bahadurian's most expensive rug is from the early 19th century. It is a large rug, formerly used as a hanging, and it shows shepherds roosting in a tree and garlands drinking from a pond. The background is light cream and the pond has realistic ripples of bright blue and grey, repeated in softer colors in a border of birds. This rug comes

Notes for Moslems

Among the old books and prints, the shelves of Witherspoon and the occasional Baseline paintings that make the Witherspoon Art and Book Shop such a pleasant place to lose an afternoon, there is a large wooden "X" which marks the spot where the Koran rests.

The "X" is a folding hook-rack of carved wood. The Shop inherited two of them with the purchase of a library from an estate, and their precise purpose was not known until a University student with a middle-Eastern background explained what the purpose was. Traditionally, the Koran is protected from contact with various elements, metal in particular, by a wooden rack. In many instances, these racks are carved from one whole piece of wood, joints and all, but in the case of Witherspoon's two racks, there seems to be some joining.

They have been carved, with floral and geometric designs worked into a coarsely grained wood the color of redwood. In repose, the rack is an oblong; open, it is an "X" with lattice supports and carved top. The Koran—or whatever book you choose—rests within the top "V". One rack is $6.95, the other $5.95.

from the Persian village of Kirman and it costs $1100.

It goes without saying that these are hand-made rugs, mostly one-of-a-kind although made, obviously, in traditional patterns. You'll find each one labeled with type, name and price.

"Someone Who Likes You." A charming book for children has become, in a quiet way, a charming adult Valentine. It is "A Friend Is Someone Who Likes You," written and illustrated by Joan Walsh Anglund and offered by the Witherspoon Art and Book Shop as a Valentine suggestion ($1.75).

This enchanting little volume discusses friendship — the three-to-six-year-old kind — in 25 brief pages, each one illustrated with line drawings of demure and fetching young people. Much too delicious a book for children to appreciate, actually.

On quite a different level of experience, the Shop offers Germaine Bro's analysis of Albert Camus, of whom Miss Bree writes, ironically, "He is only now approaching the years of his artistic maturity."

John Gunther has prepared a special introduction for the new Modern Library edition of his "Death Be Not Proud." Helen E. Waite has written a fine account of the relationship between Helen Keller and Anne Sullivan Macy and although Mrs. Waite has written for the 12-16 year-old, Mrs. Hoadley of the Book Shop says that her book has much to offer the adult reader as well.

It's New To Us

so irresistible at Princeton Gourmet, will cease to have meaning once you begin to read the Gour-met's new book "The Gin and Butter Diet Book." It is the most significant thing we've read since volume one, number one of "Mad."

In this book, which is 12 by 16 inches in two dimensions and three-eighths inch in the third, you will find out "how to lose a pound a day for a year" and how to reduce certain parts of your anatomy to a common denominator. For example, "For flabby arms. At the edge of the tub and place a gin-soaked towel across your thighs. Sit until the towel dries."

You will also find a diet menu which tells you what to eat and endure each day with a snack: "one pound of butter." On your menu, you'll find "two aspirin pressed in a pat of butter," "2 tablespoons of haking soda lightly tossed in a Bartlett pear," "One mar-shallow, marinated in gin," and "chicken Tartare." For one unforgettable lunch, all you do is mail two envelopes of unfavorable letters home to your mother.
The illustrations are appropriate, but to what we cannot say.

Taking a tranquilizer, you will then be prepared to look over the other things available this late January from the Gourmet. For example, the little baskets imported from Japan so that you can serve your de creme on February 14. These baskets — formerly made in France, but you know things are — come in a nest of five ranging in price from 75 cents to $1.75 and in sizes from three inches to about seven.

Each basket is heart-shaped.
You line it with cheesecloth and press into it the mixture of cream cheese and cottage cheese which makes the coule de creme.
(Gourmet will provide recipe), let it drain through cheesecloth and basket, unroll and serve with one marshmallow marinated in gin — no, no! — serve with strawberry sauce.

Other kinds of recipes come in a package of Continental Instant Crust, a "milk" made of flour, vegetable shortening and baking powder. Its recipe is apparently an old Polish one, the Gourmet says, which was smuggled out of Poland only recently, although just say you'd have read the recipe, probably rolled thin and tucked in your shoe sole, is a mystery to us. Perhaps Betty Crocker was on the trail.

In any case, the crust we speak of is ready, as is. No water to add, no rolling. It is a very short crust and perfectly adapted to the foods whose recipes are inside:
French onion cake, Quiche Lorraine, a Torgnon, meat pie a la Russie, and so on.

In the kitchen room, as opposed to the pantry room, Gourmet has new Japanese place mats in five remarkably eye-looking designs which are so durable that you can wash the mats in water and detergent. These are paper mats, understand, made by special stencil processes. The colors are rich and copious, with deep blues, green, gold, browns to mention copper-rust to n.e.s. Handsome enough to frame, really: $2 a pair or $3.95 for a set, $1 for the Japanese folder to keep them in. Choice of five Japanese designs. And...

storehouse demitasses, pol, sugar

Betsy Palmer, Luther Adler, Johy Baker and Nancy R. Polling. Green wrote the screenplay.
Muni is a doctor in the impecunious Brownsville section of Brooklyn. Deedly lives with the needs of his patients, who seemingly include every hoodlum and punk in the neighborhood, he always lived, in the words of the novel, "in a state of controlled fury, frustration and pity." David Wayne, whose Broadway credits include the role of the hyperchaul in "Finian's Rainbow" and Sakini in "Fahrenheit 451," as "Mow," is a television producer who wants to do a series about the doctor's heartwarming life.
Muni resists the idea, but finally agrees to be made the hero of the series. Before the show is ready to be presented, however, Muni, upset by the progress of a young Negro patient, dies of a heart attack, but the significance of his life is shown in the changes he has wrought on the personalities of those with whom he came in contact.

This could be pretty sloshy stuff, and it often is, particularly in the "I'll let you cry on my shoulder if you'll let me cry on yours' finale. Still, the power and depth which Muni brings to the role of the doctor gives the film moments of real drama. By the time he dies, his death seems more seriously lamentable than the demises of most of those persons in Hollywood, and the result is a film that, despite its lament, Daniel Mann's direction is sensitive.

THE GARDEN

Sapphire (January 27-30) is a good British murder mystery which is made memorable by its sensitive and perceptive treatment of racial antagonisms in London. Featured players are Nigel Patrick, Yvonne Mitchell,
Michael Craig and Paul Massie.
Basil Dearden directed from Janet Green's fine screenplay.

The film opens with the discovery of the battered body of a beautiful girl, who, it develops, was half Negro and passed for white. It is also learned that she was three months pregnant. With these facts to go on, the police investigate a variety of suspects, all of whom had reasons to want the girl dead and all of whom seem capable of having committed the murder. There is Massie, her lover, whose scholarship would have been lifted had he married her; Miss Mitchell, Massie's sinister sister, who disliked the girl; Earl Cameron, the girl's dark-skinned brother who resented her passing for white, and Bernard Miles, Massie's father, who had devoted his life to making a success of his boy.

The mystery unfolds tautly against the unusual and deeply intriguing background of London's Negro slums, and the performances are of the first order. Our one minor reservation concerns the decision to film the story in color, which adds little and is inconspicuously pretty and disappointing in a picture which demands the more somber black-and-white process. Recommended.

Rasho-Man (February 1-3) is a 1951 Japanese release, which was chosen in that year as the best film of the year by the Venice Film Festival and was awarded a special Academy Award for the best foreign film of the year. The stars are Toshiro Mifune and Mochiko Kyo and English titles translate the dialogue.

The action is set 1200 years in the past and turns around Rasho-Man, the gate to the Japanese city of Kyoto. Three men, of widely differing backgrounds and personalities, gather at the gate and their conversation uncovers a moving story of a murder for love to which too many persons confessed. The story is profound and wonderfully photographed and the acting is superb. Recommended.

schools, the program will supplement regular class work with four hours, study in small groups each week.

Individual study and original source materials will be emphasized in separate classes for seventh and eighth grade students, and for those in the fourth through sixth grades. The subjects to be included in the program are: English composition and literature, science, history, social studies, art and music.

Many Topics to Be Covered. In the seventh and eighth grade group, projects may range from the use of source materials in history instruction in creative writing and the function of stock and bonds in corporate finance. The lower grades may study maps, globes and atlases, the basic rules of composition or the trees in Princeton.

To qualify for the new program, students must have the recommendation of his classroom teacher and have a top rating on intelligence and achievement tests. Procedures for selecting qualified students were worked out by Frank Hironan, school psychologist, and Dr. Purcell. Parents of all students will be

WANT TO SAVE A LIFE? This dog and cat are typical of animals available for adoption at Lawrence Hospital for Animals on Princeton Pike. Some are taken there by the Animal Rescue Leagues of Princeton and Lawrenceville, some by people who find lost animals. At present, only about half the animals find new homes. Time for adoption is brief—only seven short days between the time they are found and the time they are put to death. The young male cat shown here in the arms of Alice Gatz, receptionist at the hospital, is scheduled to die Friday unless someone claims him. The dog being held by Gregory Crum, 11, of Ewing Township, who found him, is luckier—he was adopted a few days ago.

About 45 students will be enrolled in the program eventually at all four Township schools, although the number will be smaller at the first sessions. Mrs. F. Teri Vehn has been named by the Board to teach the special classes at all schools. A graduate of Queens College with honors in comparative literature, she received her Master's degree in teaching from Yale University in 1958. She formerly taught French in Fairfield, Conn.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Gerard McAlindon, 88 East Prospect Street, Hopewell, January 17; Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Blazick, 262 Jefferson Road, January 18; Mr. and Mrs. Jules Hallum, 187 Valley Road, January 19; Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Berber, 218-C Eisenhower Street, January 20; and Mr. and Mrs. Ibrahim Adawi, 35 Williams Street, January 22.

THREE-YEAR CONTRACT SET

For Garbage Collection. Departing from previous practice, Borough Council awarded a three-year contract for garbage collection in the municipality in a special meeting Monday. The Princeton Disposal Company, low-bidder on the one and three year options, will perform the service for $15,400 for the three years, using the incinerator.

In the past, collection has been made on a one-year contract, with the cost running about $20,000 a year. This year, Council requested bids for one, three and five-year periods, with the company either using the incinerator or supplying its own facilities. Although the contract represents nearly a $5,000 increase, the Council had already allowed $25,000 for the service in its preliminary budget.

The next regular session of the Council will be at 8 p.m. February 8. It has not yet set a date for introduction of the budget.

George T. Loos was elected president of the Princeton Memorial Association at its annual meeting. Other new officers include Meyer Goldstein, vice-president, and Mrs. Charlotte S. Holmes, secretary-treasurer.

Added to the board of trustees were Mrs. J. Douglas Brown, Mrs. Harold W. Close, Rev. David L. Crawford, Mrs. Charlotte S. Holmes, Rabbi Aaron Krauss, Mrs. Peter B. Putnam and Frederick W. Stohlman. ELECTION CHANGE SOUGHT.

In South Brunswick Township. A realignment of the voting districts in South Brunswick Township, including the creation of two new districts, is being sought by Joseph Rauch of Monmouth Junction, Republican municipal chairman. Mr. Rauch took over the post on January 1, succeeding John Neefus, who was named to the Board of Adjustment.

Mr. Rauch said that the two new districts he suggests are needed because of the steadily-increasing number of South Brunswick residents, and would make voting much more convenient for hundreds of voters in the area.

The changes proposed by Mr. Rauch would affect voting in the Kingston, Kendall Park and Deans voting districts. His suggested district is as follows:

1. All Kendall Park residents now voting in Kingston, all others in the Kendall Park South subdivision, and those in the section West of Kendall Road between Pyne and Dodge would vote at a new polling place to be established in the Constable School in Kendall Park.

2. Voters in the area bound by Sand Hill Road, Route 27, Finnegan's Lane and Route 1 would vote at a new polling place to be established in the VFW Hall on Henderson Road, near Route 27.

3. Voters living West of Sand Hill Road would vote at the polling place in Cambridge School. Mr. Rauch said that he has discussed his proposal informally with members of the Township Committee, the Democratic municipal chairman and the president of the County Board of Elections, and hopes that it will be adopted in time for the April primary election.

MS APPEAL TO BEGIN

Special Gifts Sought. Mrs. Thomas C. Roberts, chairman of the special gifts committee for the multiple sclerosis campaign in Princeton, has announced Monday as the opening day for the appeal for advance gifts. Assisting her are Mrs. Peter Anson, Mrs. Alan Garrick, Mrs. Frederick L. Dunn, Mrs. Arthur Jarvis, Mrs. R. G. Lamb, Mrs. A. C. Smith, Mrs. Shirley Morgan, Mrs. J. T. Morey and Mrs. Dudley Woodbridge.

Funds raised by the appeal will support the research program of National Multiple Sclerosis Society and the work of the central New Jersey chapter, in providing patients with home care, recreation and other services.

The disease most often begins during the patient's 20's and 30's, and is progressively crippling as it attacks the central nervous system. There is no known cause or cure for MS, and its course is erratic. It is estimated one of every 400 young adults suffers from MS.

BUFFET DANCE LISTED

By Sportsmen's Club. The Princeton Italian American Sportsmen's Club will hold a St. Valentine's Buffet Super-Dance February 12 at the Club House on Techne Road starting at 9.

Jerry Bryan's band will provide music for members and guests. Tickets may be obtained at Liggett's Drug Store, The Garden Center in the Shopping Center or from co-chairmen of the event, Samuel Nini and John Petrows. The club's next regular meeting will be Thursday at 8.

"WITH SINCERE THANKS"

To Henry Savage. In a letter of appreciation, voted unanimously at the annual re-organization meeting, the trustees of the Princeton Public Library expressed their sincere thanks and appreciation to Dr. Henry T. Savage whose term of service as trustee ended December 31, Dr.

CHANGE SEEKER: Joseph Rauch, Republican municipal chairman in South Brunswick Township, who has announced plan for realignment of voting districts there. (Clearse Photo)

Savage is archivist of Firestone Library.

The letter cites, in particular, Dr. Savage's contributions to a new program of study that eventually should result in a new library for the Princeton community. Your time and expertise for the examination of proposed locations and for consultation with architects, it continues, "was an important factor in resolving several important decisions."

In addition, the letter mentions Dr. Savage's "keen, personal interest" in the operating problems of the library. "It is the hope of the board members that your wide experience and interest may be available to us as consultant or special committee member in the further development of the Princeton Community Library."

Dr. Savage was appointed to his post in 1953 by Mayor P. Mackay Sturges to fill the unexpired two-year term of Dr. Charles E. Osgood. He was then reappointed for a full five-year term.

been elected officers of the Mercer County Association for Mental Health, it was announced this week.

They are Thomas P. Cook of 696 Kingston Road and Mrs. J. Murray Kempton of 271 Edgewood Road, both chosen vice presidents, and the Rev. David H. McAlpin, Jr. of 159 Laurel Circle, who was named secretary.

Mr. Cook, a lawyer with offices at 10 Nassau Street, is a member of the Princeton Township Committee. Mrs. Kempton is the wife of the New York Post columnist, Murray Kempton. The Rev. Mr. McAlpin, assistant pastor of Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, will also continue to serve as chairman of the Princeton section of the Mercer County Association for Mental Health.

SCHOOL IS OPEN

To Teach Practical Nursing. A class of 13 students including two men has entered the new Princeton Hospital School of Practical Nursing which opened its doors last week. A special reception for the freshmen was held on Wednesday by the Advisory Committee for the School of Practical Nursing of the Board of Trustees. Mrs. Bradford S. Locke, chairman of the committee, welcomed the new students.

Six residents of Princeton belong to the new class, and three of them are graduates of Princeton High School. The high school alumni are Susan Flagg, class of 1959, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vreeland Flagg; E. G. Calhoun, Jr., class of 1958; Marion R. Drake, class of 1958; Belle Mend; and Mrs. Susie Tenace, class of 1953, 184 John Street.

Other Princeton residents are Mrs. Anthony N. Covatta, 69 Lehigh Lane; Mrs. Joseph A. Buck, 743 Prospect Avenue Ext.; Miss Helen Roberts, 45 Leigh Avenue and Mrs. John Broadway, 12 Birch Avenue.

Many of the new students are women with families. Two of them have five children, one has six, and one has two. There are also several former hospital workers, including women who have been Red Cross nurse's aides, members of the Hospital Aid Committee or aides at other hospitals in this area.

Members of the nursing and professional staffs attended Wednesday's reception for the new students. Hostesses were Mrs. John H. Wallace, Jr., Mrs. B. Woodhall Davis, Mrs. Marshall M. H. Dana, Mrs. David B. Miller, Mrs. George Conway, Mrs. John W. Kauffman, Mrs. Raymond Male and Mrs. G. Alfred Cluet.

DRIVERS LOSE LICENSES

For Varying Violations. John E. Thompson, 32 Stanley Avenue, has had his driver's license revoked for four months for excessive speeding, the State Division of Motor Vehicles announced this week.

Similar offenses cost Charles F. Thompson, 11 East Street, his license for two months, and Thomas Corcoran, 35 Hamilton

Absence Explained

Irving W. Merston, secretary of Princeton Borough Board of Education for 20 years, was absent from Tuesday's meeting because of illness. Mr. Merston's wry wit and apt comments are such an integral part of every board meeting that things just didn't seem the same until Graham Rohrer, board president, produced a letter from Mr. Merston.

The letter explained his absence and said how he had planned to come until he realized that "I can't sneak away to attend the meeting, lest the doctor walk in and take me by the collar." The letter came from Princeton Hospital, where Mr. Merston is reported to be well on the way to recovery after a bout with the flu.

Avenue, and Robert L. Clifford, 132 Patton Avenue, their licenses for 30 days each. Under the state's "point system," prior revocation of his license followed by a speeding conviction cost Albert H. Reik, RD 1, Monmouth Junction, his license for three months.

BOY BUMPED BY CAR

On Witherspoon Street. John Martin, 6, 34 Ithaca Road, ran into the path of a car driven by Richard Wheeler, 49, Shaw Road, Kingston last Wednesday on Witherspoon Street.

Knocked down but not run over, young Martin was taken to Princeton Hospital by Mr. Wheeler. Dr. Leonard Moore treated the boy for contusions.

Township Rateables Soar

Princeton Township led 12 other Mercer County municipalities in listing increased rateables for 1959, the County Board of Taxation has reported. To offset at least partially an anticipated tax increase, Township residents will have a tax base broader by $6,818,620.

The figure is more than $1,500,000 higher than the next municipality with a major increase—Ewing Township. The city of Trenton is well down the line, reporting only $524,000 as the result of sizable reductions allowed by the Board.

Princeton Borough, in which only 40-odd vacant lots exist, nonetheless reported higher rateables in the amount of $292,000. Figures for other nearby municipalities: Lawrence Township, $2,180,000; West Windsor, $875,600; Hopewell Township, $434,700; and Hopewell Borough, $15,700.

CURES FOR THE TELEVISION INDUSTRY: Asked to comment on what should be done to improve the television industry, which has recently been the recipient of pointed criticism, Leonard Brickett finds fault with TV commercials, saying they are an insult to a man's intelligence. For other suggestions on how television can improve itself, see below. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Much criticism has been heard lately of the television industry and television shows. What, in your opinion, do you think should be done to improve television?

Where asked: At the Post Office.

Mrs. Irving Wolff, 111 Red Hill Road, housewife: There is much too much advertising. It's just horrible. I'd prefer pay TV in which there is no advertising. I still think TV is wonderful in many ways, though.

Mrs. Everett Jones, Princeton Pike, housewife: I think a little less violence, the real ugly kind. They just don't knock a person down, they have to kick him eight times. I'm just about ready to write to them about it. I'd like to see more programs like "Open End," which comes on Sunday at 10 when everybody is exhausted.

Leonard P. Brickett, 32 Nassau Street, hotel representative: I hesitate to criticize TV shows because I don't watch them that much. The average dramatic show on TV is so hackneyed that it isn't worth looking at. The only thing I watch are sports events, documentaries and topical events such as an address from the President. I think the area which could stand the most improvement in TV are the commercials. They show a complete lack of imagination and are an insult to a man's intelligence. They have the opposite effect that is intended: making a person not want to buy their products. But I do think the present housecleaning is healthy for TV and that the industry has a tremendous future.

Mrs. Lyman Spitzer, 16 Prospect Avenue, housewife: There have been a number of good things on TV, notably plays, but, in the main, I have always thought that TV was largely a waste of time. I think it could do a lot more than it does in bringing up the general public's tastes and discrimination, and in disseminating information about world events. Until it does this, I do not feel that a television set is a necessary part of everybody's household furnishings.

Simon F. Moss, 453 Walnut Lane, public school teacher: They should eliminate some of their lousy variety shows. An example of what I have in mind is a Jerry Lewis show I saw the other night. Lewis did nearly all of the performing, and all the excellent talent and variety artists he had on as guests were there mainly as fall guys for him. I think if these guest performers are going to perform, they should perform to the best of their abilities, and not be used just as a foil. I'd like to see a return of showing collegiate sports' programs other than football on TV. This payola situation has had a definite effect on TV programs. Their finances are limited now and they don't have the range of variety they had before. They are more conscious of paying a lot of money to get big stars.

Mrs. Walter L. Wright, Patton Avenue, housewife: I would like to see fewer Westerns and fewer of those so-called Rock and Roll singers on TV. Saturday nights are dreadful because there is nothing on but Westerns. Apparently the television people are doing what the public wants.

W. D. White, 288-A Halsey Street, graduate student, Department of Religion: I don't think much can be done to improve TV without changing the level of the culture of this country, particularly the sense of values that characterize our culture. I don't think laws can do much to change the level of TV excellence.

Mrs. Suki Lewin, 21 Jefferson Road, housewife: One thing that has been done recently to the betterment of TV is Channel 13's Play of the Week. If more channels had the freedom this one has, it would be a good start. David Susskind's, "Open Mind," also on Channel 13, is the sort of thing that should be copied. I also think TV commercials could be improved a lot. They gear their messages to the level of an idiot.

George E. Hodge, Tarrytown, N.Y., investment researcher for bank: They certainly, to my mind, could improve the quality of the great mass of programs. It really is a biting commentary of our civilization that we are bringing into our homes on a half-hour basis so many, many crime shows and shows depicting violence and bloodshed. TV is a medium that the young are so readily exposed to — all they have to do is turn a knob. I would like to see a general upgrading of the calibre of TV shows. More programs devoted to music with people like Marion Anderson or Leonard Bernstein, more shows devoted to great literature.

Mrs. Bessie Christian, 21 Quary Street, church organist: I think there should be more educational programs for children because so many children look at TV. All those westerns and shows of an escape nature give children a false impression of life.

Frederick Procaccini, 313 Witherspoon Street, clerk, EIT: I wish TV would put on more historical documentaries like Twentieth Century and more true detective and FBI programs. There are too many shows on television like Mike Hammer that are filled with too much violence and this is bad to show younger kids and teenagers. I would like to see more time given to musical shows.

PRINCETON SYMPHONY PLAYS

Please! Larger Audience. A program to please both lovers of the traditional orchestral repertoire and those whose musical tastes run in the Monday night in McCarter Theatre by the Princeton Symphony Orchestra, Nicholas Harsanyi, conductor. The second in the orchestra's 1959-60 series of three concerts, this program included the Bach Suite No. 3 in D major, the well-loved Beethoven Violin Concerto in D major, and the first performance of Warren Martin's new Symphony in F major.

The orchestra played very well indeed throughout the evening. If a comparison is permissible here, one was immediately given the impression of a greater unity and responsiveness within the group during this concert than in the initial one of the season. The Bach Suite was performed with great care and attention to detail; special commendation should be given the trumpets for their fine playing throughout the work. Many Bach compositions are famous for the great demands they make upon trumpet players; not only are the trumpet parts extremely high, but they also frequently call for a controlled brilliance which only an accomplished player can achieve successfully.

Warren Martin's Symphony in F major is a pleasing and well-constructed work which deserves many hearings. The composer writes with a good deal of warmth throughout and exhibits a rough, humorous quality in the third movement.

The second movement is an interesting piece in itself, fugally constructed, and absorbed in the trapezoidal texture; it is not, perhaps, as immediately appealing to the audience as the first and third movements, but analysis of it might prove advantageous in deriving a fuller understanding and enjoyment of it. Mr. Martin is an imaginative orchestrator, constantly in search of new and effective sounds; he seems to have a sensitivity to woodwinds, and the section reciprocated with some very excellent playing.

The second half of the program was devoted entirely to the Beethoven Violin Concerto, with Eriq Morini as the featured soloist. Miss Morini's appearance on Monday was no exception to her consistently high performance standards; her playing was impeccable, technically and tonally. An occasional lack of rapport tempo-wise between orchestra and soloist was unfortunate, but as the concerto progressed, a better communication between the two was established. The very large audience in attendance responded warmly to Miss Morini's performance, as well as to the other works in the program.

next Tuesday in McCarter Theatre when the Cleveland Orchestra under George Szell makes its annual appearance in Princeton.

The concert has been designated as the Maria Prentice Memorial Concert of the season. Each year, one of the concerts is given in memory of Mrs. Prentice as a tribute to her deep interest in the musical life of Princeton. Mrs. Prentice was for many years a member of the Ladies Music Committee which eventually became the Princeton University Concerts Committee and it was through her efforts that additional funds were added to the original memorial funds which make the concerts possible.

For its Princeton concert, the Cleveland group will play the Mozart Symphony No. 31 in E flat major, K. 543; an orchestral suite drawn from Faure's stage music for "Pelléas and Melisande"; Benjamin Lees' Symphony No. 2, which he completed in 1889; and Richard Strauss' "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks."

WELCOME BACK: George Szell, conductor of the Cleveland Orchestra, will return to Princeton for a concert next Tuesday night.

Question Of The Week

Mrs. Barbara Bradley, Arretton Road, governors, in this country, too much from England: I think there is a good choice of TV programs in this country but not enough quality. There should be more talent, more good shows. "Dance Party" and shows of that nature are boring. There are too many shows which are naive and juvenile.

Henry King, Senior Street, New Brunswick, auditor: I'd my more respect on the part of the broadcasting companies. I would not like to see the government get in on TV any more than I would like to see its hands in the newspapers.

James Petrelin, 237 Mt. Lucas Road, Hun School student: I think TV has had an unfavorable effect on the American youth's mind. Students spend more time watching TV than they do studying. I've heard of these early morning educational programs but I don't think you get as much out of them as you can a book. In my opinion, TV should be banned for all school children.

Miss Peggy Cuddy, 58 Cleveland 1st, governors, in this country: The shows here are much better than the ones we saw on the BBC, but I don't like all the commercials. I would like to see them let Alan Freed return to television or else change the person that is taking his place. He's hopeless; he acts too foolishly.

Harry Titano, Levittown, Pa., salesman: I think they're doing a pretty good job. You can't please everybody. CBS president Stanton has the right idea in telling the public which part of a show has been done in advance and which part is impromptu—he's really trying to clean up the shows on his network.

Mrs. Alfred Test, Stony Brook Lane, housewife: More educational programs, more programs on art such as flower arrangement. I'd like to see more shows like the College Quiz on Sunday Afternoon.

TOWN CLUB TO MEET

Slides of Russia Planned. Robert F. Flory will show members of Princeton's Town Club slides of Russia at its meeting Monday at 8:30 in the Colonial Room of the Nassau Inn. Mr. Flory recently visited Russia as a representative of RCA to the American National Exhibition in Moscow.

Mr. Flory was one of eight people from Princeton who worked at the Exhibition, giving Princeton the highest per capita attendance of any city in the United States. At the close of the exhibit, he traveled over 6000 miles by jet plane within Russia from Leningrad to central Asia.

A graduate of Cornell University and at present the administrator of professional placement at the RCA Laboratories, Mr. Flory reported that he was surprised to discover that Russia is not as different from the United States as he expected. One of the pictures portraying the typical Russian is not completely accurate. The wide diversity of

Better To Be Busy

Participation in extracurricular activities is seldom the cause of academic failure, according to a survey recently completed by Dr. Jeremiah S. Finch, dean of the college of Princeton University. On the contrary, Dr. Finch said that failure is "almost always the result of lack of interest and lack of motivation."

Dr. Finch's survey showed that, out of 52 men required to leave Princeton during the 1958-59 college year because of academic deficiency, a total of 27, or more than half, engaged in little or no extracurricular activity. Only four in the group showed an adverse effect from time spent in extracurricular activities or employment.

The group represented only 1.78 percent of Princeton's total enrollment. Included were one senior, 17 juniors, 21 sophomores and 13 freshmen. Of these, 81 percent ranked in the upper quarter of their class in secondary school, 8 percent in the second quarter, 8 percent in the third, and 3 percent in the fourth.

geography, climate, and racial groups in Russia also surprised Mr. Flory.

A cocktail party and dinner at the Inn will precede his talk starting at 6. No admission will be charged to see the slides and the public is invited to attend all three portions of the program. Those desiring dinner reservations should call W. L. Morgan at WA 4-2700 (ext. 8407) or WA 1-7855.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Your article on Mrs. Paul Bortell and the Newcomer Club of the YWCA in last week's issue was very well done, save for one omission. The luncheons, teas, and meetings which as many as eighty-some newcomers to town enjoy monthly in the YWCA building require a great deal of organizing and arranging. This is done chiefly by staff members of the YWCA, most notably Mrs. Howard Waxwood, Jr., Adult Program Director.

Professional staff people in most agencies generally stay modestly in the background, but I am sure your thorough journal would want Mrs. Waxwood to get this much credit.

Incidentally, I wrote "YWCA building" not out of any disrespect for the brethren, who own the facilities, equally with the YWCA, but just to compensate for a few of the times the edifice on Avalon Place gets called simply "Avalon."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am releasing for publication the following letter sent to Common Sense, 530 Chestnut Street, Union, N.J.:

"I was shocked and horrified in reading your paper called 'The Coming Red Dictatorship.' It is incredible that anyone, least of all one who considers himself a good American which I imagine you do, could dispense such hatred in the world, let alone here. Such conduct is not only inimicable to the United States, since it tends to divide its citizens and undermine the moral strength of the country, but is also inimicable to all ranking which longs, above all things, for peace.

"While in bitterly denouncing the Jewish people you do not mention religion, it would be well to remember that the commandment of God given to all the people of the world, through every religion ever sent by God, commands above all things the spreading of love and denounces above all things the spreading of hate. This is particularly true of the Christian religion given to the 'Gentiles' by Christ, whose greatest commandment is love.

"If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar; for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?"—John 4:20.

"If men do not love each other, how useless is say that they love God."—Abdu'l-Baha in disgust.

Progress Noted.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We were pleased to note the introduction by Committee-man Marvel of a series of recommendations for much-needed improvement in the administration of Township government in Princeton. Equally satisfying was the prompt acceptance by the controlling majority of several of these important proposals.

In the quiet of the "off-season," with little public discussion of local public affairs, it is gratifying to know that the press maintains its consistent watch over matters which, although not spectacular, are important to the management of our affairs here. Mr. Marvel tells us that this series of findings will be mimeographed and available to all who would like to study them.

Report from THE MAYOR

How Big? Last week's special study session of the Borough Planning Board was another significant step in the process of making a careful look at Princeton's past and present as a basis for wrestling with up-coming decisions on Princeton's future. On hand were all nine members of the Planning Board as well as members of Borough Council and representation from the zoning board and housing authority.

Our consultant planner, Don McElough, and his assistant, David Pellish, presented thought-provoking (factual) data much of it in the form of charts and graphs, and answered questions for more than two hours. Among the key questions on which the planners need guidance from the board is a "necessity" of more land which the complicated ones involved in the very short phrase: how big? The planners pose this question in relation to the size of business, commercial and office space that should or must be set aside. The same question occurs whenever housing density and the need for open space are discussed. "How big?" is also the question when building heights and parking requirements are being laid.

And More Cars. The automobile — a "necessity" of modern living that could not have been foreseen when most of Princeton's thoroughfares, built on a Borough map — has owed a great deal of attention on traffic and parking problems. The planners jotted the town's last week with some hard facts about these matters.

Actual traffic counts demonstrate that on a key section of Nassau Street, the year-round daily average of cars traveling in both directions is more than 15,000. This is almost the same number which daily uses U.S. Route 1 at the Washington Road intersection in Penn Neck. Studies also show that we have an estimated motor vehicle for every 2.7 persons in Princeton. No planning board can change these facts, but its members can face them realistically and seek out the solutions, both short range and long range, that will enable us to adapt our plans and programs to modern living.

Other Plans. Other Borough groups are also very much involved with important issues that will affect our future. Two examples from last week's meeting calendar: the Public Library group, after a constructive budget hearing with the Council's finance committee, took further steps toward the formation of a Friends of the Public Library group; and the Recreation Committee, which met last week with Councilman Colman and the Mayor to review a list of new assignments in their advisory group.

Alvin W. Carreck has agreed to serve as chairman, and Mrs. Simon H. Hinder has agreed to serve as secretary. The Mayor and Council informed of their deliberations through Mr. Colman's Council committee and they will also work closely with the Township recreation commission.

"Tell It to the Mayor!" The fourth weekly special session will be held this Thursday, January 28, and next Friday, February 5, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall.

No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings. The annual preparation of the budget serves as a further reminder of the value of these weekly opportunities to learn your views on local problems.

Topics Of The Town

FOR CHAPIN SCHOOL

Ready to be Held. Mrs. Paul Smith, headmistress of the Chapin School, has announced that Mrs. George H. Sands will serve as chairman of the committee that will arrange the forthcoming benefit luncheon and fashion show for the school on Friday, February 5, at 1 p.m. at the Nassau Inn.

The English Shop is staging the fashion show, using the current Miss New Jersey as the model. Since space is limited, reservations for the luncheon must be made by January 29. Mrs. Peter Putnam, 16 Roper Road, is in charge of tickets, which cost $3. Other committee members are: Mrs. L. Ashby and Mrs. Lawrence Benson, Mrs. Harold Erdman, Mrs. Walter Fullam, Mrs. Frank Heyniger, Mrs. Sanders Maxwell, Mrs. Norton Smith, Mrs. J. W. B. Stokes and Mrs. Walter H. Swayer.

OFFICERS ELECTED

By Nursery School. Three new officers have been elected by Princeton Nursery School. All will serve two-year terms. They are Mrs. Hubben Ziesing, vice president; Mrs. Frank Mountcastle, secretary; and Mrs. Albert Wilson, assistant treasurer. Other officers whose terms still have one year to run are: Mrs. Roland Ely, president; Mrs. Coleman Donaldson, treasurer, and Mrs. Howard White, corresponding secretary.

Chosen new members of the board of trustees were Mrs. Richard Conyer, Mrs. Ely, Mrs. Everett Jones, John Reeder, Howard Stopp, Mrs. John Strassenburgh and Mrs. Wilson. Mr. Reeder was named to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Thomas P. Cook.

In her annual report, Mrs. Ely stated that the Princeton Nursery School is still operating at one of the lowest per capita costs in the state. This is due, she said, to substantial donations from friends of the school. It is hoped that the school may soon acquire additional space so that it can accommodate the 12 students currently on the waiting list.

And its future is currently under discussion with the Council of Community Services. Mr. Ely said that last year, the 30th anniversary of the organization of the school, was particularly successful from the point of view of its teaching. As proof of this she cited the fact that several other educational institutions use the nursery school for practice and demonstration. These include the State Teachers College in Trenton, the Fine's School, and Princeton University, whose Psychology Department conducted a conditioning experiment at the nursery school last Spring.

ART CLASSES AVAILABLE

At Dolce Studio. Applications are now being accepted for enrollment in drawing and painting classes at the Dolce Studio in Griggstown. William Monaghan, owner of the studio, is instructor.

The studio is located in an old stone carriage house on Canal Road. Some of Mr. Monaghan's most recent works are on display there, and anyone interested is invited to visit.

SEITZ IS PRESIDENT OF Montgomery Township. Firmen, George Seitz has been elected president of Montgomery Township Volunteer Fire Company Number Two, which serves the Blawenburg and Skillman area. Mr. Seitz, who succeeds Thomas Skillman, will serve for one year.

Other new officers, who will also serve one-year terms, are: William Kirk, first vice president; Harvey Clark, second vice president; Donald Terhune, secretary; Everett May, Sr., corresponding secretary; Harold Skillman, treasurer; and Claude Lewis, chief.

Mr. Lewis has appointed the following: Enos Parsell, first assistant chief; James Adamian, second assistant chief; Donald Terhune, foreman; and Pervin Strejker, Jr., assistant foreman.

RECOGNITION RECEIVED

By South Brunswick League. Mrs. Andrew Johnson, president of the League of Women Voters of South Brunswick Township, reports that the club has received recognition from the national organization, ending the provisional status given to all newly-formed leagues.

One of the major undertakings of the South Brunswick League was a survey of local government and community services, subsequently published in a booklet entitled, "Know Your Township: South Brunswick." The publication has been cited by township committee members as "an invaluable aid." Mrs. Johnson presided a year of continued progress for the League which has grown from 35 to 53 members in little more than a year.

FIRST AID ELUETS

New Officers Chosen. DeWitt Bouse has been elected president of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad for the coming year.

Other officers are: John Fugill, vice-president; George Hunt, secretary; Albert Toto, treasurer; Elmer Rodweller, captain; David McCloskey, first lieutenant; Andrew O'Hara, second lieutenant; William Rodweller, head driver; Elmer Rodweller, treasurer; Albert Toto, Mr. O'Hara and John Norman, delegates; John Tunning, Robert McCloskey and Mr. Fugill, alternates.

LOCAL LEADERS NAMED

For Goucher Fund Drive. Mrs. G. Reginald Bishop, Jr., of 10 Academy Street, Kingston, will serve as captain for the Princeton area in the 13th Anniversary Fund drive of Goucher College. It was announced this week. Nation-

BUSINESS In Princeton

1959 WAS BANNER YEAR
For Princeton Bank & Trust Co. Deposits and total resources of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company, as of December 31, 1959, were both the highest of record for the eleventh consecutive year, making 1959, its 125th anniversary year, a banner one for the bank. The size of these figures also made the bank, for the second consecutive year, the largest in Mercer County, excluding the city of Trenton.

In his report to the stockholders at the annual meeting this Tuesday, George R. Cook, 3rd, bank president, said that deposits totaled $33,712,442, an increase of $2,035,000, or 6.4 percent, over 1958, while total resources increased by $2,351,705, or 6.3 percent, to $36,155,460. Gross income and net earnings were also at an all-time high, he reported.

While expressing pride in the record-breaking accomplishments of 1959, Mr. Cook said that his outlook for the future was "tempered with caution." Stating that "the inflationary excesses of the past must someday be rectified," Mr. Cook said that "current efforts in that direction are both commendable and necessary, but their effect on our business, as evidenced by tight money and high rates, makes it progressively more difficult for us to supply fully the increasing credit demands of our rapidly-growing community."

These demands, he reported, were not diminished in 1959 by higher money rates and tighter money conditions. During the past year the bank's three offices extended loans in the record amount of $15,400,666 and received repayments totaling $12,740,605. The higher deposits, Mr. Cook said, were the principal source of funds and enabled the bank to act favorably upon all reasonable applications for credit.

Trust Division Sets Record. The Trust Division of the bank also set a record last year, with commissions and fees up 7.5 percent to a new high of $150,163. The book value of assets, exclusive of corporate trusts, increased from $33,367,696 to $42,657,173, or 27.8 percent, and income collected for accounts exceeded $2,170,000 another record.

The Diversified Trust Fund, in its tenth fiscal year, increased to more than $5,800,000, with a new unit value high of $18.25 and income per unit at an all-time high of approximately 64 cents. These figures, Mr. Cook said, showed that fund was continuing to meet the cost of living increase.

Gross income from operations was $1,360,166, with net earnings at $280,820, again the highest of record. Of these earnings, $45,122 was allocated to the Employees Profit-Sharing Trust; $150,000 went to undivided profit, and $87,500 was distributed to stockholders as dividends. A total dividend of $1.25 per share was paid in 1959, as compared with $1.20 per share during 1958 to 1959.

A total of $45,338 was spent last year on renovations and new equipment, including expansion of the vault at the main office and installation of new safe deposit boxes in both the main office and the branch office in Princeton Shopping Center. The staff was increased to a total of 89 workers, including a "Twilight Team" of bookkeepers who work from 6 to 10 p.m.

Stock Sale Approved

Plans for the sale of 14,000 shares of additional capital stock of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company were approved at the annual meeting of the stockholders this Tuesday. The sale will increase the bank's capital funds to $2,535,000.

Warrants will be issued next Monday. Each stockholder will be entitled to subscribe, at $27.50 per share, to one new share for each five shares owned of record on January 26.

new category of members of the board of directors, directors emeritus, was approved at the stockholders' meeting. First new directors emeritus named were George A. Brakley and Joseph R. Hunt. All other members of the board of directors were re-elected.

Mr. Brakley, formerly vice president and treasurer of Princeton University, has been a director of the bank since 1940. Mr. Hunt, former owner of Hunt's Mill in Rosedale, was a member of the board of directors of the Hopewell National Bank from 1931 to 1956, when the bank merged with the Princeton Bank and he became a member of the advisory board of the Hopewell Branch.

The board of directors held its first meeting of the year this Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Margaret K. Wright, head note teller, was promoted to assistant secretary of the Banking Division.

The new filtration structure will be built adjacent to the present water plant on Stony Brook, at the foot of lower Alexander Street. It will process water to be drawn from the Delaware and Raritan Canal by the new pumping station on which construction was begun last Fall. The Princeton Water Company has been granted permission to draw a million gallons of water a day from the canal by the State Water Conservation Department.

"This new construction is in addition to many recent expenditures designed to keep our local community among the leaders in water supply planning in the State of New Jersey," said Edward A. MacMillan, company president. In the past seven years, Mr. MacMillan said, almost $700,000 has been spent for new plant facilities, tanks, mains and other equipment.

During the same time, Mr. MacMillan said, water demand increased 44 percent. The new filtration plant," he stated, "will effectively supplement our supply for 11 deep wells in the Princeton area and insure adequate water for many years to come."

Record Consumption. More water was used in 1959 than in any other year in the history of the 78-year-old Princeton Water Company. A total of 839,061,660 gallons was pumped to Princeton residents last year, an increase of 11 percent over 1958. In addition, 12,733 feet of water mains were installed last year, bringing the total length of mains serviced by the company to 81 miles.

Officers of the Princeton Water Company, elected at the annual meeting last week, are: Mr. MacMillan, president; George R. Griffling, vice president; Walter B. Jefferson, Jr., secretary and treasurer; and Fred H. Klink, assistant treasurer and assistant secretary. All members of the board of directors have been elected for additional one-year terms.

GLICK AT WINE & GAME

Formerly With Sengram, John Glick of 1090 Kingston Road has become part-owner and manager of the Wine and Game Shop, Inc., 6 Nassau Street. Mr. Glick was formerly a territorial promotion supervisor with the Four Roses Distillers Company Division of the House of Sengram, Inc., New York.

Mr. Glick, a descendant of one of the oldest families in Princeton, lives with his wife and three children on a section of the original Glick estate, which has passed in the family since 1690. His father, the late John H. B. Glick, was one of the founders of the Grover-Gubler Lumber Co., now the Grover Lumber Co. He is a graduate of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas.

LIQUOR STORE TO MOVE

The Reliable Furniture Store, 23 Witherspoon Street, will go out of business on March 1 upon the retirement of its owner, Harry Huritz of 41 Nassau Street. The store was established in 1921, with Mr. Huritz's association totalling more than 25 years.

Community Wine and Liquor Store, 18 Witherspoon Street, will lease the space on March 1, and hopes to occupy the premises about April 15 after remodeling is complete. Including basement and warehouse space, the store will occupy over five times its present square footage. Nathan Volman of 11 Shady Brook Lane, Mr. Huritz's brother-in-law, owns the 23 Witherspoon Street building.

The Borough has granted Community's application to transfer its license, and the State has approved a change of name to "Community Liquors." The business is owned by John Gelfner of Flemington.

By OFFICERS NAMED

By the Junior Store Association, John Ellsworth, proprietor of the Princeton Junction Package Store, has been re-elected to a second term as president of the Retail Liquor Store Association of Mercer and Hunterdon Counties. Archibald A. Browne, vice-president of Wine & Game Shop, was named first vice-president of the group. The organization will hold its annual dinner-dance at the Italian-American Sportsman's Club on Sunday, March 20.

WINTER SPORTS RESUME

Tigers in Play Saturday. With the two-week examination period virtually at an end, Princeton's winter sports teams will return to action Saturday. Some of them will be unusually busy, what with classes not scheduled to start until Wednesday—the first day of the spring term.

Princeton's hockey team, 6-5 on the season and aiming for the highest Ivy finish the Tigers have enjoyed in the league since George Hackl led the 1955 sextet to the runner-up spot, will face Northeastern in Baker Rink Saturday at 8. Despite the fortnight's layoff, the team will play two games in as many days. Providence College, a 6-3 victor here in mid-December, will provide the opposition Monday night, with Brown on tap in an Ivy contest the following evening.

The Bruins, blanked, 5-0 by Princeton on January 9, have failed to win since then, and have scored only two goals in their last three games. They, too, have been idle since January 18 and expectations are that Norm Wood's skaters will score the first series sweep over Brown in several years.

Statistics show that despite occasional disruption caused by injury and illness, the first line of Captain John McBride, Pete Cook and Tony Pell is a highly productive unit — undoubtedly the best since the trio of Hank Bothfeld, Bill Gail and Jinx Cleaves led the Tigers to the league championship in 1953. McBride has 21 points (seven goals and 14 assists), while Pell—greatly improved this season—is the leading scorer with 31 goals.

Cook has missed two games in all and part of a third through illness but nonetheless is credited with seven goals and a like number of assists. The burden of the attack is being shouldered by this line, whose total of 53 points is almost half the team's output this season.

CAMPBELL IS PROLIFIC

Has 22.8 Ivy Average. The hottest sophomore in Princeton basketball history is being counted on to spark the Tigers' drive for a first division berth in the standings as the second half of the season begins. If Pete Campbell maintains the pace he has set in the first dozen games of his varsity career, he'll break the previous high for a sophomore of 20 points.

Three years ago, Carl Belz dropped in 380 for the Orange and Black. Bud Haabstad, who holds Princeton's career record of 1292, was credited with 333 in his first year on the varsity. Haabstad got hotter as he went (he scored an even 500 points in his senior season) but Belz was occasionally sidelined with injuries.

Campbell has 240 in his first 12 games—only four of them played in Dillon Gymnasium. If he maintains his current 20-point average, he'll hit 460 for the season and be in a position to take dead aim on Haabstad's three-year total, which averages 431.

Obviously, pressure will mount on the 18-year old resident of Hokokus, whose father is a member of the Class of 1933. "He'll be double-teamed, or have a man assigned to him personally while the other four defenders operate in a zone. Despite such attention already, he is leading the Ivy scoring race with a fine 22.8 average in five games.

Percentages Are High. Indications are, however, that he will maintain the pace he has set, possibly net a full 20 per game, but enough to top Belz's record of 380. Best support for this belief—in addition to the fact that his current average has been compiled while playing two out of every three games on the road—is the fact that his surviving percentages are so high.

Campbell has 57 field goals out of 211 shot for a great 460 from the floor. At the foul line, his relative accuracy is even more impressive: 46 free throws made and only 11 missed for a mark of .807.

Princeton will be at New Brunswick Saturday night at 8 for a return match with Rutgers.

Bill Clarke Honored

The late William J. Clarke, head coach of baseball at Princeton University for 34 years, has been elected to the Helms Hall College Baseball Hall of Fame in the 1959 elections of that body held in Los Angeles.

Clarke, at the time of his death last July 29, was believed to be the last surviving member of the Baltimore Orioles of 1894-96. His teammates on that squad included John J. McGraw, Joe Kelly, Hugh Jennings, "Ironman" Joe McGinnity, Dan Brothers, "Wee Willie" Keeler and Willbert Robinson.

In his coaching days at Princeton, 1899-1927 and 1936-1944, Clarke compiled a record of 499 victories against 309 defeats and 14 tie games. His teams also won several championships in the 10-team Eastern Intercollegiate League. His name will be inscribed upon the College Baseball Hall of Fame Trophy, bringing to 25 the roster of college coaches thus honored.

SURE SHOT: Pete Campbell, Princeton sophomore, may break Tiger record for first year varsity players.

quiet that it trounced here last month, 79 to 63. The Scarlet has good potential and the home court advantage will help, but Campbell's scoring, Captain Jim Evans' all-around play and the good defensive job sophomore Al Kermel is doing under the boards should help the Tigers prevail.

They'll be at home Monday night at 8 against Colgate, with Yale due here the following Saturday. Now 4-7 on the season, the Tigers hope to win all three and stay on the right side of the .500 mark for the balance of the campaign.

OTHER SPORTS

Wrestlers Here Saturday. A three-way wrestling meet is scheduled for Dillon Gym Saturday afternoon, with Franklin and Marshall, providing the opposition. The freshman and jayvee matches will begin at 2, the varsity at 4. The Pennsylvania matmen won a year ago, 14-12.

Hockey fans will find Princeton's promising freshman sextet playing the Hill School at 3:30. It figures to be something of a mismatch, but the first line of Johnny Cook, Jimmy Hyland and Dave Hersey is well worth watching. Hyland clobbered the Dartmouth freshmen with five straight goals a couple of weeks ago. Coach Pete Cook's operatives are 4-1 on the season.

A swimming meet against Colgate is the only other varsity event scheduled here in the next week. It will be staged Monday night at 8 in Dillon Pool.

PHS QUINSET LOSSES

To South River, 62-42. A tatter four consecutive home games, the Princeton High School basketball team will play its next one away, starting with Trenton Catholic Friday at 8:30 and B.M.I. on Tuesday.

Last Friday, the Little Tigers lost their fourth in a row and eighth of the season to South River High School, 62-42. Once again, inability to get started until the second half hurt the home team. In a stellar first half, PHS scored only 15 points, eight of them by Jack Lackey.

After the Rams from South River had taken an opening 3-0 lead, two driving shots by Ted Meredith under the basket put the Blue and White in front, 4-3, for the first and only time. In an attempt to keep the visitors off balance, Coach Tony Bornik employed a double post and his strategy appeared to be working for an underdog Princeton High team kept even with its opponent into the second period.

"The 2nd Quarter Did It," Jack Copeland's set, and Lackey's long one-handed from the sideline tied the score at 15 all and it looked as if the Little Tigers might go on to upset Concord-John Flitzke's Rams. This hope was dashed as South River then hit for 11 straight points to capture a commanding 26-15 lead at half time. The sudden collapse of the Blue and White was baffling, and 12-0-0-0 could only say that the team "went into a mental block" and that "the second quarter did it."

Their fast break catching the home five flustered for easy points, the visitors started the third quarter by dunking two more baskets to double their lead, 36-15. PHS was unable to match the crisp passing of its opponents, especially under the basket and, in taking too long to get off its shots, had many of them blocked. Unable to penetrate the South River defense, it took a score from the outside but this maneuver met with little success.

In the final period, Jimmy Barbour connected for seven points, as the Little Tigers closed with a rush, outscoring South River 18-3. Thus for the second game in a row, PHS outscored its opponents in the second half. After the outcome had already been determined in the first two periods.

SQUASH TOURNAMENT RESULTS

Mrs. Stockton in Semi-Finals. Mrs. Bayard, Stockton, 2-0 in Dyke Road, advanced to the semi-finals of the New Jersey Women's State Squash Tournament, held last week at the Pretty Book Tennis Club, but was beaten by Mrs. Carter Simonin of Philadelphia who went on to win the championship.

Mrs. Simonin beat Mrs. D. A. Mann-Power, of Philadelphia, 15-12, 12-15, 15-11, and 15-10, in the final match of the tournament. Robert C. McAllen, president of the Pretty Book Club, awarded the trophies and prizes to the winners at the conclusion of the match.

Mrs. Runyon Cole, of Philadelphia won the consolation tournament by beating Mrs. James Delano of Princeton in the first round and winning over Mrs. Robert Chiswick of Princeton in the final round.

HUN FIVE SPLITS

Sheds in Penn-Jersey League. After an upset loss to Germantown Academy Friday, the Hun-Salebury outfit has become a must for the Red Black five if it hopes to remain a contender in the newly-formed Penn-Jersey Basketball League. Salebury, the league leader, handed Hun its first defeat in December on its home court and unless the Princeton quietest can turn the tables on the Pennsylvania school at the Seminary Gymnasium on Wednesday, it will be out of the running. In a match-box court, Hun lost to Germantown Academy, 53-13, for its fifth setback of the season. The crucial loss dropped Hun to the 500 mark in the Penn-Jersey League and virtually eliminated its earlier hopes of capturing the crown. The defeat was especially disappointing in that Germantown had been beaten by Centerville School, a team that Hun had recently vanquished.

A decided rebuff advantage in the home team's favor and poor shooting paved the way to defeat. Hun cut out Lou D'Ambrosio had an off-game, hitting on only one of 13 shots while the rest of the team did not fare much better, connecting for 26 percent, its season-low. Dave Savage, Al Landau and Paul Kadlec grabbed most of the defensive rebounds for Hun but they were no match for their taller opponents in snaring offensive rebounds.

The outcome of the game was decided in the first quarter as Germantown swept to a nine-point bulge. Hun got within four points of tying the score in a third period snarl but the drive failed as the visitors connected for two quick baskets to preserve their lead.

Really Not. Hun Win. Hun outscored Admiral Farragut by

2-1-1 ratio in the all-important first period to come from behind and win, 48-43. Captain Lou D'Ambrosio and Bill Gilman each scored five points in the last quarter to spearhead the January 20th win over visiting Farragut.

Dave Savage, top rebounder for the Red and Black, grabbed 12 rebounds and scored 11 points in turning in his usual fine performance. Helping Savage outscor the Adler visitors under the boards was Gilman, who hauled in 13 rebounds. High man for both teams was D'Ambrosio with 16, scoring chiefly on jump shot and drive-in dunks from along the base lines.

The win left Hun with a 4 and 2 mark, its best standing in a number of seasons. The Hun Jayvees lost their second game of the year to Farragut's Jayvees for a 3-and-2 record.

WITHERSPOON WINS FOUR

Eyes Underfed Season. Led by John Barbour, who has scored nearly 25 per cent of the team's points, the Witherspoon School basketball team piled up its fourth straight victory last week, beating the junior team from Bordentown Military Institute, 61-14.

Other victims include Valley Road, 51-28; West Windsor, 15-12; and Cranbury, 66-30. Leading scorers for the varsity are Barbour with 34 points; Larry Madden, 38; Don Cooper, 27; and Bruce and David Van Ness, 21 each. But Coach Lawrence Iran points out that the defense has allowed only -20.3 points per game.

Seven games remain off the schedule for Witherspoon, five of them at home. The junior varsity team is carrying a 2-1 record with victories over West Windsor and Cranbury.

ST. PAUL UNDEFEATED

After Three Starts. Two games in the next three days will test the perfect record of the St. Paul's basketball squad, which beat St. Francis, Trenton, last Saturday, 6-19. The schedule calls for home games against St. Raphael's, Thursday, and Our Lady of Sorrows, Saturday.

The Patriots had little trouble with St. Francis as they piled up a 32-1 halftime lead. Scoring was split up with Ben Lehman hitting 12, Al Proccerino, 10, and Dug Hoffman, 8. In a preliminary game, St. Paul's JV squad won its opener, 16-11.

SEASON HIGH OF 1015

Rolls by Jefferson Five. High scores and close league races marked last week's bowling in Princeton. Jefferson Plumbing posted a team single game of 1015 in the "B" League, high for the season, just two nights after Decker's Pals had rolled 1013 in the "A" hoop.

It was the end of the first half for the "B" League and Muni Electric took first place honors by three points over Gileh Electric (62). In the Women's Industrial League, Nassau Serrero (160) beat out Decker's Dairy (99) and Forgeate C. C. (96) as the first half ended.

The Dayton Five (71) led a Tiger Garage (73) and Para Lab Supply (72) as the Industrial League goes into the final week of the first half of its season. Other league leaders include Cannon Club and the Rockies, each with 11 points, in the "A" hoop;

SWIM MEET HELD AT "Y"
Sanctioned by A.A.U. A Princeton
YMCA Swim Meet, sanctioned

Dr. Hageman To Speak

The Rev. Dr. Howard Hageman, pastor of North Reformed Church, Newark, and president of the General Synod of the Reformed Church in America, will give a series of five lectures next week in Miller Chapel of Princeton Theological Seminary. The lectures, presented under the 77th annual of P. Stone Lec- tureship, will be given from 7 a.m. through Friday at 7:45 p.m. General theme of the series is "Pulpit and Table." Titles of individual lectures are "A Tale of Two Cities," "Into the World," "The Gothic Architecture," "The Liturgy Grows Up," and "Toward a Reformed Liturgical Period." The series is open to the public.

Dr. Hageman is lecturer in Homiletics and Liturgics at Princeton Theological Seminary, New Brunswick. He has also contributed numerous articles to the "Christian Century Pul- ver," "Baptist Digest" and "Theology Today."

by the New Jersey A.A.U., will held Saturday evening at the Y. About 100 Princetonians were among the 157 competitors.

Among those who placed were Lonnie Bredeberg, third place finisher in the State Championship 100-yard breaststroke; Lady Good, fourth in a field of 28 competitors in the State Championship 100-yard free style; and Elzora Bredeberg, fifth in the 100-yard breaststroke, open event among 17 contestants. Others who participated in the meet were Ann and Ted Winters, Barbara Van Riper, Carl Blatterberg, Jeff Dean, Gary Dean, William Howe, Michael Desmond, Matthew Young and George Merrill.

PHIS TENTH VICTIM

Of Unleashed Somerville, Jim Somerville, a Somerville High School basketball scoring record by hitting for 42 points on the Princeton High School court Tuesday afternoon to lead the unbeaten Pioneers to a decisive 70-48 victory over PHIS. At one point in the third quarter, however, the Little Tigers led, 37 to 36.

In the end, the shooting of Somerville and the rebounding of the taller visitors were too much for the home team, which threw a last-minute lead to the Little Tigers. Mike Zedalis before succumbing, Princeton High, has now lost five in a row and its ninth of the season.

The Blue and White took a 14-13 lead at the end of the first quarter, mainly on the shooting of Bruce Sandwick and Jimmy Barbour, who fell behind at the half but in the third period it caught fire. Quick baskets by Jack Lackey, Eric Hawkins and Sandwick cut Somerville's lead to one point and a few moments later Ted Hawkins slipped on a fast break and the Little Tigers were shooting lead.

Barbour was top scorer for the losers with 17, seven of them accounting for all of PHIS's points in the final period. He was closely followed by Sandwick with 16; the latter's eight points in the third quarter paced the Little Tigers' exciting but abortive comeback.

PCD QUINSET SPLITS

Now 1-3 on the Season, A 41-12 victory over the Wadsworth School of Plainfield gave Princeton Country Day School's basketball team its first victory of the season. Paced by Pepper Pettit with 20 points and Larry Kuser with 9, the Blue and White led all the way.

Tuesday afternoon saw Valley Road score its second success of the winter over PCD, with victory 37-31, a virtual duplication of the game played between the two teams, which was ended in a losing cause, with Wadsworth School's unbeaten quintet (see page 26) will play host to Country Day on Monday.

BASERBALL BANQUET HELD

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP

This, we believe, is a much sought-after type: a small, well-kept Colonial in a quiet area, convenient to the University. The first floor room arrangement is conventional, but very commodious: the living room is spacious and has a fireplace; the kitchen workable. Second floor has three light, well-ventilated bedrooms and one bath. Storage is quite good with numerous closets, a full dry basement and garage.
